Microsoft Outlook

From: Exemption 6
Sent: Wednesday, April 27, 2011 12:11 PM
To: Ahearn, Richard L.
Subject: Re: FW: Nice economist piece

well done!

On Wed, Apr 27, 2011 at 8:42 AM, Ahearn, Richard L. <Richard.Ahearn@nlrb.gov> wrote:

Don't know if you all saw this yet, but the Economist weighed in on Monday, and it's certainly a different perspective that what we're seeing in most u.s. media:
http://www.economist.com/blogs/democracyinamerica/2011/04/boeings_labour_problems

There are lots of good points, but I really liked this one, which I've been waiting for someone to make: If Boeing is having more trouble with its unions than its competitors are, it's possible that the fault lies with the company, rather than with the unions.

Nancy Cleeland

NLRB Director of Public Affairs

(202) 273-0222

nancy.cleeland@nlrb.gov