

Ellett, Kim

---

From: Povar, Liz
Sent: Monday, May 17, 2010 2:24 PM
To: Cheng, Jim; Anderson, Jeffrey M.
Cc: Cantrell, Carrie (GOV); Sledd, Bob; Lehmkuhler, Mike
Subject: RE: Terry M/greentech

Jim: Mike Lehmkuhler is following this for our team; here's his summary of the status. Bottom line, we have no reason at this point to believe there's validity to the job creation numbers (or inferred project).

From: Lehmkuhler, Mike
Sent: Monday, May 17, 2010 1:30 PM
To: Povar, Liz
Cc: Langston, Jay
Subject: RE: Terry M/greentech

GreenTech Automotive is still stuck in neutral. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Tennessee is probably mentioned because the assembly plant site in MS is located just outside of Memphis.

[REDACTED]

MyCar is a battery electric vehicle that has a range of 40 miles and a top speed of 40 mph. It is considered a "microcar" (about 8 feet long, 5 feet high & weighs less than 800 pounds) and in no way competes with Toyota Prius or Honda Insight, which are sedan sized gasoline hybrid electric vehicles. It is slightly smaller than a Smart Car.

Here's where things stand at the moment:

From June to October this year, visitors to the Danish island of Bornholm in the Baltic Sea will be able to test drive a small two-seater electric vehicle (EV), as a result of a deal struck during the UN Climate Change Conference COP15 last December in Copenhagen between the Chinese firm EuAuto Technology and Business Center Bornholm, reports the latter in a press release.

[REDACTED]

Not in full sales production mode and I'm sure McAuliffe's group didn't pay much for this. Here's a picture:

---

From: Cheng, Jim (GOV) [<mailto:Jim.Cheng@governor.virginia.gov>]

Sent: Monday, May 17, 2010 11:29 AM

To: Povar, Liz; Anderson, Jeffrey M.

Cc: Cantrell, Carrie (GOV); Sledd, Bob

Subject: Terry M/greentech

I just read on WaPo that Terry A bought Greentech auto from China. Any intel on what is going on here? I thought the project was over.

- Jim

Ellett, Kim

---

From: Povar, Liz
Sent: Monday, May 17, 2010 11:31 AM
To: Cheng, Jim; Anderson, Jeffrey M.
Cc: Cantrell, Carrie (GOV); Sledd, Bob
Subject: RE: Terry M/greentech

Jim, will check and get back with you.

---

From: Cheng, Jim (GOV) [<mailto:Jim.Cheng@governor.virginia.gov>]
Sent: Monday, May 17, 2010 11:29 AM
To: Povar, Liz; Anderson, Jeffrey M.
Cc: Cantrell, Carrie (GOV); Sledd, Bob
Subject: Terry M/greentech

I just read on WaPo that Terry A bought Greentech auto from China. Any intel on what is going on here? I thought the project was over.

- Jim

Ellett, Kim

---

From: Lehmkuhler, Mike
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 2010 3:05 PM
To: Anderson, Jeffrey M.
Subject: Re: Greentach

No. Is that why you called?
Sent from my Blackberry
(804) 305-3433

---

From: Anderson, Jeffrey M.
To: Lehmkuhler, Mike
Sent: Tue Feb 23 14:46:34 2010
Subject: Greentach

Any new news on Greentech – got your email with the questions dated October 22, 2009 did they ever respond to your questions?