Dear Ryan,

Thank you again for reaching out to OGIS about this issue. We appreciate your patience, and apologize for the delay in our response.

Labor has confirmed that the Appeals office now has everything it needs to sufficiently address your appeal. Labor let us know that they expect to be able to send a final response to your appeal by March 26. Please know that this date is only the agency's best estimate. The response to your appeal may be sent to you before or after this date based on the volume and complexity of the office's work.

I hope that you find this information useful. As there is no further information we can offer you at this point, we consider this matter closed.

Best,

Amy

Hi Ryan,

I have been in contact with Labor to discuss the status of your request, and am continuing to follow up with them on a regular basis to see if they are in a position to provide a reasonable estimated date of completion. Labor has confirmed that they are addressing your appeal.

I am sure that this is not the response you are hoping for, and I understand how FOIA delays are frustrating. I will continue to check in with Labor, and will let you know as soon as I have additional information to share.

Thanks for following up with me.

Best,

Amy
