Re: Freedom of Information Act Request

Dear FOIA Officer:

I write on behalf of Cause of Action Institute (“CoA Institute”), a nonprofit strategic oversight group committed to ensuring that government decision-making is open, honest, and fair.¹ In carrying out its mission, CoA Institute uses investigative and legal tools to educate the public about the importance of government transparency and accountability.

We are examining the use of a personal email account by former Federal Bureau of Investigation (“FBI”) Director James Comey for FBI business.² As your office found, “Comey’s use of a personal email account on multiple occasions for unclassified FBI business to be inconsistent with the DOJ Policy Statement.”³ Therefore, pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552 (“FOIA”), CoA Institute hereby requests access to the following records for the time period September 4, 2013 to the present:⁴

1. All emails sent or received by former FBI Director James Comey or former FBI Chief of Staff James Rybicki on a personal email account (such as Gmail or any other non-FBI account) conducting official government business, that were acquired or reviewed by the DOJ IG during the above-cited investigation. CoA Institute has sent a separate FOIA request directly to the FBI seeking similar

⁴ For purposes of this request, the term “present” should be construed as the date on which the agency begins its search for responsive records. See Pub. Citizen v. Dep’t of State, 276 F.3d 634 (D.C. Cir. 2002). The term “record” means the entirety of the record any portion of which contains responsive information. See Am. Immigration Lawyers Ass’n v. Exec. Office for Immigration Review, N830 F.3d 667, 677–78 (D.C. Cir. 2016) (admonishing agency for withholding information as “non-responsive” because “nothing in the statute suggests that the agency may parse a responsive record to redact specific information within it even if none of the statutory exemptions shields that information from disclosure”).

records and therefore is not interested in the DOJ IG referring this request to the FBI. We are only seeking records in the possession or control of the DOJ IG.⁵

Request for a Public Interest Fee Waiver

CoA Institute requests a waiver of any and all applicable fees. FOIA and applicable regulations provide that the agency shall furnish requested records without or at reduced charge if “disclosure of the information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.”⁶

In this case, the requested records unquestionably shed light on the “operations or activities of the government,” as they relate to the FBI’s problematic use of personal email accounts at its highest levels of leadership. These records are not yet available to the public and will provide insight into the FBI’s handling of federal records that has been the subject of a great deal of media and public attention.⁷

CoA Institute has both the intent and ability to make the results of this request available to a reasonably broad audience through various media. Its staff has significant experience and expertise in government oversight, investigative reporting, and federal public interest litigation. These professionals will analyze the information responsive to this request, use their editorial skills to turn raw materials into a distinct work, and share the resulting analysis with the public, whether through the Institute’s regularly published online newsletter, memoranda, reports, or press releases.⁸ In addition, as CoA Institute is a non-profit organization as defined under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, it has no commercial interest in this request.⁹

Request To Be Classified as a Representative of the News Media

For fee status purposes, CoA Institute also qualifies as a “representative of the news media” under FOIA.¹⁰ As the D.C. Circuit recently held, the “representative of the news media”

⁹ Assuming, arguendo, that the DOJ IG determines CoA Institute has a commercial interest that would be furthered by the requested disclosure—which interest it does not, in fact, have—the public interest in disclosure would still outweigh any such hypothetical commercial interest. See 16 C.F.R. § 4.8(e)(2)(ii)(B). §6.10(b)(6).

test is properly focused on the requestor, not the specific FOIA request at issue.¹¹ CoA Institute satisfies this test because it gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.¹² Although it is not required by the statute, CoA Institute gathers the news it regularly publishes from a variety of sources, including FOIA requests, whistleblowers/insiders, and scholarly works. It does not merely make raw information available to the public, but rather distributes distinct work products, including articles, blog posts, investigative reports, newsletters, and congressional testimony and statements for the record.¹³ These distinct works are distributed to the public through various media, including the Institute's website, Twitter, and Facebook. CoA Institute also provides news updates to subscribers via e-mail.

¹¹ See Cause of Action, 799 F.3d at 1121.

¹² CoA Institute notes that the agency's definition of "representative of the news media" (28 C.F.R. § 16.0(b)(6)) is in conflict with the statutory definition and controlling case law. The agency has improperly retained the outdated "organized and operated" standard that Congress abrogated when it provided a statutory definition in the OPEN Government Act of 2007. See Cause of Action, 799 F.3d at 1125 ("Congress . . . omitted the 'organized and operated' language when it enacted the statutory definition in 2007. . . . [Therefore,] there is no basis for adding an 'organized and operated' requirement to the statutory definition."). Under either definition, however, CoA Institute qualifies as a representative of the news media.

The statutory definition of a "representative of the news media" contemplates that organizations such as CoA Institute, which electronically disseminate information and publications via "alternative media[,] shall be considered to be news-media entities."¹⁴ In light of the foregoing, numerous federal agencies—including the Department of Justice—have appropriately recognized the Institute's news media status in connection with its FOIA requests.¹⁵

Record Preservation Requirement

CoA Institute requests that the disclosure officer responsible for the processing of this request issue an immediate hold on all records responsive, or potentially responsive, to this request, so as to prevent their disposal until such time as a final determination has been issued on the request and any administrative remedies for appeal have been exhausted. It is unlawful for an agency to destroy or dispose of any record subject to a FOIA request.¹⁶

Record Production and Contact Information

In an effort to facilitate document review, please provide the responsive documents in electronic form in lieu of a paper production. If a certain portion of responsive records can be produced more readily, CoA Institute requests that those records be produced first and the remaining records be produced on a rolling basis as circumstances permit.
